

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

A method and an apparatus for scanning an image. The method includes moving an image sensor; determining whether a side of a rectangular periphery is detected; detecting first and second reference points representing both end points of the side; receiving and scanning an image between the first and second reference points; deciding whether the side opposite to the side is detected; and stopping scanning the image, and stopping the image sensor.